Very nice in politics some people are any political tribunal. getting to be ! A deviation from the strictest standard of orthodoxy can't be tolerated. It would be well, perhaps, to have a catechism provided, in which all the fine points are brought out and expounded by appropriate answers; then a Pope, or Supreme Bishop, and a council of Cardinals, should be provided, to interpret and explain; and, when called upon, tion of a very bad spell of National Democrat, out of his district—making 82. Col. Boyd has 28 votes as far as heard from. Of the three nations. Some years ago, Democrats, at leastwere not so refined in orthodoxy. They looked at practical results, and only regarded theories as they led to action, and determined the effective policy of the country. It has been considered sufficient, in time past, if a man agreed that the federal government should not prohibit slavery in the territories. It was not even deemed essential that he should deny the power of Congress to act in this matter, so he asserted that the power should not be exercised. All else was deemed unimportant. Some held that the people of the territories had power over the subject, either to establish or prohibit slavery; and these stood high in the favor of the Democratic party. The whole party supported General Vance was called to the Cnair, and J. E. Gail-Case for the office of President, who was the breath appointed Secretary. originator of this doctrine. Mr. Buchanan, too, in his letter accepting the Democratic nomina-

J. H. BUN JE,

Steamboat John Gault. The general complaint at this time is of Bottive lest in the channel. The weather lawarm and suitry. On Saturday night it rained constantly, and refer the lat, not wishing to increase the amount of their January settlements. Wholesale merchants are taking stocks, and closing up their books for the year. Everybody feels some anxiety to close his books, and see how he stands with the world—what he has made in the year past, before going any further. If the profit and loss account foots up with the balance on the proper side, each will feel encouraged to push out a little stronger than he did a year ago. Farmers and planters will find they have done remarkably well the past season; made good crops and received good prices; they can well afford to settle their January accounts with the cash, and they will launch out a little.

Small dealers can pay the larger reprison of the land to the fire of her climary is and painters with the cash, and they will launch out a little.

Small dealers can pay the larger reprison of large land will at the larger reprison of large land at the larger larger large large large larger large larger large luese, but we cannot expect much just now. Small dealers can pay the larger portion of happy effect, and increase their orders; manufachappy effect, and increase their orders; manufac-turers will increase their products; unemployed laborers will go to work; capital which has been tied up for the last fifteen months, will be let out for a fair return. Builders and small mechanics will have their hands full; and miners, farmers and planters will reap a good 10,000 on crease in quantity and price, and travel will Conn 10,000 on trease in quantity and price, and the begin again. There is no reason why this should not be so. The past year has been one$349,157 14 of great caution and great plenty. The country tober, 1857. All that is necessary is for confidence to be fully restored, which will be done, no doubt, by the coming settlements. On these calculations, we base our belief in a year of great prosperity in all branches of trade; not extravagance, but still abundance. CAPT. Auger-holes.

The people of New Haven are at present illy supplied with "deeply interesting" topics discussion, and among the latest, some "au ger-hole" revelations—made by three or four inquisitive women, which, if true, will commise the reputation of a lady and quite a number of male church members—are attracting much attention. A Correspondent of the fol-lowing history of the matter: The lady concerned is said to be a married woman and the leading female singer in one of the church choirs of this city; and the parties involved are also, some of them, married men Some of them have left town suddenly. Some scandalous tales are afloat, but it is not best to believe all one hears, till the facts can be better HAVE ESTABLISHED IN CONauthenticated. It seems that these stories proceed from a bevy of three spinster ladies, and a "California widow," as the fountain-head of the news. These inquisitive females, living in one part of a double house, of which the other tenement was occupied by Mrs.---, the alleged particips crimins in this case, had their atten-tion called to the circumstances by the Califortion called to the circumstances by the California widow aforesaid, whose suspicious eyes and care had, it seems, been actively directed to certain frequent callers at her friend's apartments, and she actually went so faras to bore an augerhole through the wooden partition—at a point near the floor, under her piano, and shaded it with the piano cover. Through this clandestine with the piano cover. Through this clandestine aperture she took observatiors, and made daily memoranda of names and dates in regard to the visitors.

has been the scene of many princely entertainments by night, and through the day carriages 'might have been seen' arriving and departing at all hours. The philosophy of the family in culcated the smallest possible degree of self-denial, and a wagon-load of empty champagne bottles, it is mid, was taken away weekly.

It appears that, while the merchant has been busy with his customers and acquaintances in other parts of the city, his wife has not been idle at home. A flashy young man was duly installed a-gallants general of the establishment, and, it would seem, performed his part in a manner so satisfactory that the lady of the house fell in love with him. At length, on Thursday or Friday. day last, the merchant suddenly found his house without a mistress, and discovered that his wife had eloped with the young man in question. N. Y. Post, 24.

A LAKE VERSEL IN THE BOSPHOROUS -The chooner D. B. Sexton, which sailed from Cleveland on the 29th of May last, for London, had arrived safely in Constantinople, on the th DR. C. W.
